A grand piano made in England in 1824 for the flautist in Haydn's London orchestra has returned to WAAPA following restoration. To celebrate its return, music by Haydn and Jan Ladislav Dussek, composed for this piano, will be played by Geoffrey Lancaster and James Huntingford. Beethoven's 5th Symphony, played as four hands for piano, concludes the concert.

Meet in the upstairs foyer of WAAPA – entry off Bradford Street – where your WCC host will hand out the tickets.
